POLICE REPORT

August 10, 2003 - RCMP received a report of a commercial alarm at 1098 NE Frontage Road in McBride. The alarm was false and it turns out an employee had set it off.
 August 11, 2003 - A chainsaw, toolbox and miscellaneous equipment was turned into the RCMP station. The owner can claim the items by identifying them at the police station.
 August 11, 2003 - RCMP received a report of a suspicious male. The man, who was heading south, had been in the McBride area for a few days prior. On August 15, the male was issued a bus ticket by the Ministry of Human Resources and he graciously departed town. We would like to thank all citizens involved in this matter for their concern and good will.
 August 13, 2003 - RCMP received a report of an accident involving two vehicles on 4th Avenue. One driver had failed to stop at a stop sign and was subsequently hit on the passenger side of his vehicle by the other vehicle. Fortunately, there were no injuries.
 August 13, 2003 - A man's leather wallet was turned into the RCMP Station. The wallet was located at the intersection of Hwy. 16 and Main Street. The owner may claim this item by identifying it.

COMMON SENSE

Today we mourn the passing of an old friend by the name of Common Sense.
 Common Sense lived a long life but died from heart failure. No one really knows how old he was since his birth records were long ago lost in bureaucratic red tape. He selflessly devoted his life to service in schools, hospitals, homes, factories and offices. He helped folks get jobs done without fanfare and foolishness. For decades, petty rules, silly laws and frivolous lawsuits held no power over common sense. He was credited with cultivating such valued lessons as to know when to come in out of the rain, the early bird gets the worm, and life isn't always fair.
 Common Sense lived by simple, sound financial policies (don't spend more than you earn), reliable parenting strategies (the adults are in charge, not the kids), and it's okay to come in second. A veteran of the Industrial Revolution, The Depression, and the Technological Revolution, Common Sense survived cultural and educational trends including, body piercing, whole language, and new math.

His health declined when he became infected with the "if it only helps one person it's worth it" bug. In recent decades his waning strength proved no match for the ravages of overbearing federal regulation. He watched in pain as good people become ruled by self-seeking lawyers and enlightened auditors. Common Sense knew the end was near when schools endlessly implemented zero tolerance policies, reports of six-year-old-boys charged with sexual harassments for kissing a classmate, a teen suspended for taking a swig of mouthwash after lunch, and a teacher fired for reprimanding an unruly student, when school had to get parental consent to administer aspirin to a student but cannot inform the parent when the female student is pregnant or wants an abortion.

Finally, Common Sense lost his will to live as the Ten Commandments became contraband, criminals received better treatment than victims, and federal judges stuck their noses in everything from Boy Scouts to professional sports. Common Sense drifted in and out of logic but was kept informed of developments, regarding questionable regulations for asbestos, low-flow toilets, smart guns, the nurturing of Prohibition Laws and mandatory air bags. Common Sense was preceded in death by his parents Truth and Trust; his wife, Discretion; his daughter, Responsibility and his son, Reason. Three stepbrothers survive him: Right, Tolerance and Whiner. Not many attended his funeral unfortunately, because so few realize he is gone.
