TALKING ABOUT BIGCYCLING

Bicycling is a great thing. It can give you a great exercise/ as you are going through a beautiful countryside and enjoying scenery. It is really great. And you are going so fast and almost soundlessly. Great - Well - there may be a exception. And in that case it might not be great. I can be pretty bad. We - my wife and me, we have experience with it. We were on that nice and flat forestry road-going fast of course and then the road turned to the left and then right in front of us - guess what grizzly... in the middle of the road of impressive size. My wife was never excessively anxious to socialize with grizzlies, so she turned her bicycle around and there she was. I was standing and staring at him and he was standing and staring at me. We both were standing and staring at each other - then he decided he had enough of me - despite that I am a good looking man and walked away. That reminds me those two good girls - good looking too by the way. We were neighbours. Every day they were riding their bicycles thru their long drive way to the school bus stop. Drive way was bending two or three times and trees on all sides of it. And the same thing happened to them. This time with blackey. They managed. Nobody was even scratched. And they were smart girls and they accepted my advise to go to local Hardware store to buy a bell and use them where ever they could not see far enough. Well lesson is - you don't want to surprise bear while bicycling. Make sounds, yell, sing, or best thing-have that bell. Because surprised bear can move - too fast. So much about bicycling.

-Greeting, George.
