PAINTING

Call Phil @ 250-569-0205

Steve Elliott has what he calls a “gift of song.”

The Elvis tribute artist will bring that gift when he performs his Elvis Elite show Friday April 8th at the Roundhouse theatre here in McBride!

After performing full time for the past 10 years...Elliott never tires of performing live. His colourful shows feature professional lighting and stage effects and a roaming mike for audience interaction with the Elvis Presley music repertoire, there is no shortage of songs.

“I never use a song list. I’m an entertainer and I’m there for them – the fans – not for me. If they are up there dancing, then I’ll put up the tempo a little bit, I give them what they want, the show will have love songs – such as Love Me Tender, Loving You, Can’t Help Falling in Love and ballads. I have 450 Elvis songs in my head so there’s lots to choose from Elliott’s mother, a very talented seamstress, has, since the start of his tribute artist career, made his elaborately detailed costumes (including the heavily sequined ‘Elvis in Las Vegas’ look).

Elliott looks the part.

From his jet black hair, grin to growl mannerisms he’s honed over time, the early Elvis gyrating stage movements of the 50s and his “toned down” 60s and 70s, all help to create the image he’s going for.

“I have a gift of song and I’m lucky to be able to do this [for a living]. My shows are all different, I like to mix it up a bit. I’m always adding to my wardrobe and trying to come up with new things to thrill the crowd.”

Elliott is also a busy recording artist.

“I just finished another CD so I’ll bring some with me! When you do songs over and over again, you have to keep it fresh and exciting for the audience,” he said Elliott wants the show to be reminiscent and respectful of the king of rock n’ roll but he emphasizes that he’s not trying to ‘be’ him.

“It’s hard to live up to an image people have. That’s why I prefer to call myself a tribute artist,” says Elliott, who also performs tributes to Roy Orbison and other legendary artists. Then there’s his own sound and music.

“I’m not a copy-cat. I’m an artist and the audience is my canvas. I have picked up certain phrases and things I use just as Elvis picked up things he later used. He learned a lot of what he did at church performing in the choir and watching the black preachers – they did all the body gyrations and hip shaking. Gospel music was what he began with and the rest came later.” The Lower Mainland-based artist has been on his Elvis tribute journey 12 years now and he’s been gathering a solid fan base everywhere he goes.
