Update for Television and Radio in the Valley

The Robson Valley Entertainment Association has been working - for weeks now - to source the equipment needed to switch from analog to digital in order to get the re-broadcast back up and running. We ordered the equipment over two months ago. We have been in contact with the manufacturer and they assure us that the equipment has been made, it is being tested and then will be shipped. We are ready to install as soon as these last items arrive - but unfortunately, Technaloxix advises that it will be two more weeks before we have it on site and installed. We really apologize for the length of time this has taken. However, hang in there everyone, it shouldn't be much longer now. -RVEA

Sho-Tai

Sho-Tai Returns to McBride In October with Class 1 Practitioner, Evan Dougherty. Evan Dougherty has qualified at the highest level in Sho-Tai, as a Class 1 Practitioner. He will be making his return trip to see clients in McBride & area on October 21st. There has been some expression of interest to have Evan begin trips to Prince George, so if you know anyone there who would like to see him, please contact him or Kelly. Sho-Tai is a healing art developed by Terry Bell, following a healing path with his own health issues, as a young man, which included multiple heart attacks. Sho-Tai is a natural, safe blending of non-invasive techniques used to assess the structural & nutritional status of the body. A deficiency or excess in any of these areas could contribute to a variety of acute or chronic health issues. An advanced form of Applied Kinesiology (muscle testing), along with Iridology (the scientific study of the eye), & Body Reading (patterns, markings & color changes on the tongue, teeth & face) are utilized like a road map, to analyze conditions in the body, physically, mentally & emotionally, along with the strength or weakness of the various organs & glands that run the body. All of this gives a detailed picture of the body's integrity, analyzing areas of congestion or toxic accumulations, identifying the body's challenges & health potentials. Through Applied Kinesiology, the body is assessed for which foods are causing an excess or disturbance. We are each unique, like a snowflake, therefore, what is one person's medicine can be for another person a cause of the body to do more work to cleanse it out or create congestion. Also, through the use of Applied Kinesiology, Sho-Tai is able to specifically identify the body's unique requirements for the herbs needed to achieve healthful results, thereby limiting the number of herbs required. Food grade herbal products, developed by Terry Bell, along with other high quality nutritional supplements he has tested, are made available. There are multiple reasons that the human body gets sick. The two main causes of illness are an Excess or a Deficiency of a specific food. Recommendations are given to avoid foods that are testing as negatively impacting the body. It is recommended to follow these changes for 3 months, following the body's natural cycle of: Cleanse, Repair & Maintain. Toxic accumulations & illness are created by a lifetime of unhealthy habits, therefore cleansing & healing can take some time, but lead to a more joyful & healthy life. As Terry says, 'Your Health is Your Wealth'. For Information: Evan Dougherty, 204-291-0582, healthjourney@outlook.com, www.sho-tai.ca, evandougherty.com. For Information or to book an appointment: Kelly McNaughton 250-968-4400.
