ROBSON VALLEY COMMUNITY CONNECTOR MONTHLY NEWS:

Community Connector Corner: Supporting Seniors, Caregivers & Neighbours with Disabilities. In a small town like ours, where everyone knows your name and a helping hand is never far away, the role of a Senior Community Connector is more than just a job. It's a lifeline. Community Connectors serve as trusted guides, advocates, and companions for seniors, caregivers, and individuals living with disabilities. Their mission is simple: to make life easier, safer, and more connected for those who may feel isolated or overwhelmed by the challenges of aging or caregiving. Whether it's helping someone navigate local health services, arranging transportation to medical appointments, or simply checking in with a friendly phone call, Connectors are here to bridge the gap between need and support. They can assist with filling out forms, finding home care resources, accessing financial aid programs, or connecting folks with social activities that bring joy and companionship. For caregivers, they offer emotional support, practical advice, and a reminder that they're not alone on the journey. In The Robson Valley, the ripple effect of one caring Connector can be profound. They help ensure that no one slips through the cracks, and that every resident, regardless of age or ability, feels seen, heard, and valued. So, if you or someone you know could use a little extra support, don't hesitate to reach out. The Community Connector is here to help, one conversation at a time. If you have any questions about what a Community Connector can do for you, please call Sandy Oldenburg with Robson Valley Community Services at 250-569-2266.
